Joshy's Trees is a not-for-profit mental health awareness and suicide prevention project proudly supporting Beyond Blue.

Joshy's Trees is a project that is deeply personal to our family and organisation. It was created in memory of our son Josh, who we tragically lost to suicide after a long and courageous battle with mental health. Through this initiative, we aim to honour Josh's life by helping others know that they are not alone, that support is available, and that hope remains even in the darkest moments.

Joshy's Trees is delivered through a solar-powered lighting trailers that creates a strong and meaningful visual presence. The installation features:

- Blue lighting illuminating the surrounding area, symbolising support and awareness in alignment with the Beyond Blue foundation
- Yellow lighting illuminating pathways, representing hope, guidance, and a way forward

Our vision is to see Joshy's Trees installed at mine site go-lines, major sporting events, concerts, and large social and community gatherings, where visibility is high and the message can reach people who may be struggling in silence. In high-pressure environments such as mine sites, this visual message of support and hope can be particularly impactful.

We would welcome the opportunity to discuss this proposal further and explore how your organisation can be involved in helping grow Joshy's Trees and the message of support and hope it represents.

Thank you for your time, consideration, and commitment to mental health awareness.

Yours sincerely,

Project Lead – Joshy's Trees
